

Sam Clay

Deckhand

I am eager and persistent towards my job. Not a drama driven individual. A personal strength of mine is conversation and people connecting. I understand criticism and work well with constructive criticism. With all of this I value my name in the industry and upholding it.

Daywork (Shipyard)

For 4 months + I had a very good canvas for learning all aspects of repairing as I was allowed to make any mistake as long as I learned to fix my own. Therefore, can deal with routed rust, removal of it, filling of it, priming and finishing with topcoat. Very proficient in all aspects of sika as well as a vast spand of various boat repairs.

Permanent Deck

From the completion of shipyard and onwards I gained all aspects of seamanship on a yacht. This means now I am confident and proficient in those aspects. I found such aspects easy to grasp and the only challenge being the ways I was lead on deck, however, with those experiences I have adjusted to being more solvent under such pressure. I am now seeking a position on a yacht to use proficient and orderly means to these tasks in order to maintain a thriving environment.
